UNFATHOMABLE.

"I can not be your wife," she replied, and added: "That is final."

He paced swiftly to and fro, never at times, then halted abruptly in front of her.

"Pray be candid with me," he said, not without the note of masculine impatience, "about how final."

"This way too much," she bowed to him, "How do I know?" she asked.

NEWS FROM STRATHCONA SURPRISE AT STRATHCONA

Hockey Team Double the Score on Regina—Winners Have Full Sentiment Out And Play Whirlwind Game.

There is great rejoicing in Strathcona today over Regina's 4-1 defeat at hockey last night. For the first time this season Strathcona had its full team on the ice and their performance was considerably above expectation. Of course the Regina team were off color to some extent. It was their fourth game lands of five days the last two they came through were certainly the kind that test the mettle of the best hockey players.

There wasn't a weak spot on the winners and traveling up to last night's mark, the Strathcona-Kee trophy looks safe for Strathcona for 1907. It is a series of games in arranged with Edmonton.

Strathcona's defense work was particularly noticeable. Hamilton was always master of the situation and as he had a tendency to rough it some the goal tender did not have the support in front all the time that should have been there. McKee played a steady effective game, and Hutt was always in evidence when on the line. Hamilton had all his team make full use for speed and his rambles were the feature of Strathcona's game.

The game wasn't hard all night and the Hamilton with shots that gave the rover a chance to star.

Regina's defense was weak and the winners' forwards were allowed to show in too often. Nor did Kain put up the same brand of hockey that he is in the habit of doing. On the scoring end Carmichael and Smith were the only ones prominent to any extent.

Regina—Goal, Kain; point, Bell; cover, McLaughlin; rover, Smith; centre, Carmichael; wings, McGeorge and Stubbings.

Strathcona—Goal, Hamilton; point, Hutt; cover, McKee; rover, Hamilton; centre, Ritchie; wings, Kent, McArthur, G. McLean, Steven and N. Elliott. Judge of play gave entire satisfaction.

The regular weekly meeting of the Strathcona Town Council was held last night with a full council board. The session concluded the time limit but there was little important business to discuss. The reading of communications followed the adoption of the minutes.

The secretary of the fire department submitted a list of the officers recently elected as named for by the mayor. He also filed for future reference.

The municipal city engineer, G. R. Taylor filed for the return of certain electrical tools borrowed by the town and also inquired if the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Holman had been filled. The secretary treasurer was asked to write in reply.

Robert J. Nicholson, Edmonton, wrote with reference to hospital plans. The letter was handed over to the sanitation and hospital committee.

W. A. Hull, Calgary, called attention to the fact that someone was dumping garbage on lots 8 and 9 River lot. It was remarked that the refuse came from Edmonton and the communication was ordered to be filed.

Battle Miller applied for a license to water privileges the same as had been granted to H. H. Palmer. The water and sewerage committee took the request to hand.

The Strathcona General Electric Co. asked that a remittance be made for $225 due and the secretary treasurer was ordered to write that a receipt for $225 had been issued and sent forward some time ago.

The police committee reported in favor of securing new uniforms for the officers. Tenders will be called for at once.

The fire and light committee reported the agreement with the council to appoint Mr. Grant, fire inspector and sanitary inspector if he could fulfill them during a salary of $75 a month and also to raise the firemen's pay after July 1st from $10 per quarter to $15 a quarter.

The hospital sanitation and relief committee reported that no nuisance ground had yet been secured and no scavenger engaged.

A letter was read from the auditor submitting a statement of town accounts on December 31st 1906 and January 1st 1907 and recommending certain articles for the office of the accountant.

After some other minor business the meeting adjourned.

TO BOULEVARD STREETS.

Petitions are being circulated and will shortly be received by the Strathcona town council asking for the boulevarding of a number of streets and avenues of Strathcona during the coming summer. The work will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible.

CITY CHARTER.

Mayor Mills stated last night at the meeting of the town council that the city charter would be had been informed by the Strathcona town council asking for the boulevarding of a number of streets and avenues of Strathcona during the coming summer. The work will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible.

LOCALS.

A large number of Rosedale boys have changed hands carrying the Strathcona. Among the recent purchasers are Officer Harris, who secured twelve.

At the police court yesterday Sylvester Sullivan, for creating a disturbance, on the information of Officer Harris was fined $1 and costs.

The C. P. R. have called for tenders for the erection of a new station in room, house at Strathcona. Tenders will be received up to March 1st.

Mr. J. P. Johnson recently, of the Strathcona Investment Co. Ltd. of Strathcona, have formed a small scale partnership and will open call of the Windsor Lottery.

The printers and C. P. R. will put a return game of hockey at the rink tonight.

Miss Jean Lynn left yesterday for Vancouver where she is to be married on Thursday. She had to Mr. William Smith, at one time employed in McKee & Co's hardware store and a son of Mr. George Main of this town. Miss Lynn accompanied Miss Lynn to the coach to be present at the marriage.

Mr. Ewing of Edmonton, attended the meeting of Knox church W.M.B.S. on Tuesday afternoon and favored the members with a very excellent address regarding the mission hospital. There are five of these much needed institutions in the North West under the supervision of the Presbyterian church. Contributions to their maintenance in money and kind have been generous, and the good work in connection with the hospital is going bravely on. The ladies of the above branch voted Mrs. Ewing a cordial vote of thanks at the close of her address.

These recommendations (the departmentalization) necessarily entail an increased salary list and we beg to request that you will either before or in conjunction therewith, consider an increase of salaries to your constituents etc. The burden of responsibility laid upon them in the manner of the departmentalization is undoubtedly a most extensive list of a reform of the province, as a very serious one, and it seems to me necessary to see that the management of the other should be more in keeping with these responsibilities.

The other should be more in keeping with these responsibilities. The other should be more in keeping with these responsibilities.

Hotel for Working Girls.

A despatch from Cincinnati recently informed us that J. D. Schmidlapp, a widely known Cincinnati banker, today announced the establishment of a trust of $250,000, the interest of which is to be devoted to the benefit of young women.

Friends of Mr. Schmidlapp say that the trust was decided upon by him after a recent visit to New York, where he studied the testimony in the Shaw murder trial. The trust is a memorial to Miss Charlotte Schmidlapp, who was killed in an automobile wreck in France last summer.

The need of providing suitable boarding houses and healthful amusement for the factory-girl and the underpaid industrial worker is as great as for the chorus-girl.

And more than any of these is the need of the emigrant girl for some evidence of womanly care and sympathy in a strange land.

Which fact lends interest to the following extract from a letter written to the London Times by Mrs. Pinkham, wife of Bishop Pinkham, Calgary.

She writes: "A hostel, to receive working girls coming from the north country was felt to be a great want in Calgary for some time, and a number of ladies have organized lately and have rented a small house for the purpose, and have also raised money enough to maintain it for a few months. The object of the hostel is to receive and look after girls on their arrival, provide them with free board and lodging for the first twenty-four hours, and after that at a reduced charge until they secure situations, although no girl will be left without employment if she is willing to work. What we need is a permanent building for the hostel, with accommodation for at least twenty-five. Such a building, with its site, would cost a deal more than can be raised in Calgary at the present time, when there is so much to be done. My object in writing is in the hope that this letter may catch the eye of some philanthropic lady who would be willing to do for the hostel what the late Miss Octavia Fewler did for the Women's House of Welcome in Winnipeg. She not only gave a large sum of money for it, but herself acted as superintendent for a time."

Has Edmonton any need of a similar hostel?

PHILOSOPHY AT FRANK.

Down in the mining town of Frank in southern Alberta there is a mining town weekly with the characteristic straightforward title of "The Frank Paper." Its editor has an eye for the human interest strong wherever he finds it, and little that passes in the mining town escapes him.

This is how he has written up an interesting incident that might have been a tragedy but for the philosophical strain in the young miner. The story recalls the romance of Milais and Stevenson's lives.

Says the Frank Paper: "A romance of a decidedly unusual kind and which would furnish George Ade with a capital theme for one of his 'Old Stories Revised,' has just had its happy denouement in Frank. The story is not exactly a retelling of the story of John Alden, but is very much like what one might expect a Humorist Ade to make it if he were to revise the old tale.

"A young man of Frank's foreign-born population had marrying inclinations. He knew a maiden in the old country whom he thought would just about fit a description of the apple of his eye as opened a wedding correspondence with her. In the course of time he obtained her consent to come to Frank and wed him. He sent money to defray the expenses of the trip and she started. In the meantime a license to marry was procured and the low-lown swain waited what patience he could command, the arrival of his intended. In due time she arrived in Frank and was met at the station by the man with a desire to become a Benedict.

"But there was no falling into one another's arms. Evidently the maid's mind had pictured a different looking individual as the man who had come nearly 4,000 miles to wed for a cold, changed look met the ardent love light in the eyes of the would-be bridegroom. In short, she gave him the frozen face and refused flat to enter the conjugal relation with him.

"The young man's feelings were hurt likewise his pocket-book, but being a man of resources he thought he saw a way to repair the latter. He knew of a countryman who also had ideas of marrying and hunting him up he presented him to the girl. This one looked better to the maid and an arrangement was soon effected. The friend agreed to buy the license from No. 1 for what it had cost him, to reimburse him for the amount he had advanced for expenses if the maid was willing to marry. She acquiesced, the person was called in, a couple of bags of beer were provided and there was a marriage celebration that will be memorable with more than one of the participants.

"The disappointed swain, to show he had no hard feelings, acted as best man."

SOCIAL.

A pretty wedding took place in Winnipeg last Tuesday when Florence V. Mathews, of North Sydney, Nova Scotia, was married to K. Bruce Stewart, formerly of H. Park Corner, P.E.I. Rev. Charles Stuart officiating. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Alex. McLennan, and looked charming in a gown of cream silk cologne made princess style. Miss K. Byers acted as bridesmaid and Mr. D. McLennan was groomsmen.

The following gentlemen had the honor of being invited to dinner at Government House last night: Hon. A. A. Rutherford, Hon. C. W. Fisher, Mr. Wm. Short, Mr. A. T. Coulter, Rev. H. A. Gray, Mr. O. M. Hargreaves, Mr. J. H. Garvey, Mr. T. S. F. Jackson, Dr. Fortin, Mr. Chas. Stuart Wade, Mr. Geo. Stockand, Mr. J. W. Cunningham, Mr. H. C. Taylor.

The officers of the staff of the Rock Lodge School were the guests last night at a most enjoyable dinner given by Mr. George Harcourt, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Mrs. Harcourt. Covers were laid for fourteen, the table being effectively decorated with crimson carnations and smilax. The guests included Mrs. James Harcourt, Miss McLennan, Miss Sergeant, Miss Clark, Miss McCall, Mr. H. A. Craig, Mr. C. M. McRae, Mr. C. Marker, Mr. W. Monroe, Mr. Bryce Wright, Mr. T. H. Mason and Mr. G. H. Hutton.

A very enjoyable banquet was given on Monday night in the Prince Arthur Cafe for Miss Hannah Livingston, who has resigned her position in Queen's Avenue school, to accept another in White Horse, Y.T. The banquet was tendered by the teachers of the public schools of the city. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns, and covers were laid for about twenty guests. After the dinner a number of bright informal speeches were made, and an enjoyable and intellectual evening passed. Among the guests were Mr. Inspector McCall and Mrs. McCall, the Misses Graham, Barker, Osborne, McRae, Chagwin, Brown, McKee, Macdonald, Sutherland, Burger and Thomas, Moore, Russell and Hutton.

THE CHANGE OF FRONT.

Replying to the Opposition assent on the investigation bill on Tuesday of last week, Sir Wilfrid Laurier drew attention to the remarkable change of front displayed by the Opposition members on the matter of safeguarding the public against the summary seizure of public utilities.

Sir Wilfrid said (Hansard):

There is a remarkable change of front on the part of gentlemen on the other side of the House: a change of front which, I suppose, should be a cause of heart. When this bill was under discussion the other day and it was discussed on some length, the only member opposite who opposed the bill was my hon. friend from Quebec (Mr. McLean). I can put him the compliment that he is consistent, but I am afraid that the bill is the same complaint to any one else on his side of the House. The only fact which these gentlemen had to find with the bill on its second reading was that it did not go far enough. They then introduced two months ago at the conclusion of the Lethbridge strike, that strike had continued for some months, and it was thought with great danger to the whole social life of the western provinces. We were on the verge of a severe winter, and the people in these provinces were threatened with a shortage of fuel. At the conclusion of that unfortunate strike the bill was admitted on all hands, and the government decided to introduce legislation calculated to prevent the possibility of such strikes in the future, or, at all events, calculated to make it more difficult for these strikes to occur. The only criticism offered to the legislation at that time was that it did not go far enough, that the bill should be amended so as to make it impossible that a strike could occur under any conditions whatever.

We are not with two propositions today. The first is that we should postpone the bill to another session, and the only reason advanced is that the railway men are opposed to it. So far as my information goes, this is the only class of organized labour men who are opposed to this bill. Now, if there be one class of organized labour men who are opposed to this bill while all others are in favour of it, it is reasonable that we should listen to the one and forget all the others! If there are any favouring the bill and the opening it, should we not listen to it? It seems to me that it is sufficient to put such a question as to how unfair it would be to accede to such a request. But it has been stated that the railway men have requested that this bill should not apply to their case. The reason they give is that which has been just stated by the hon. member for South York (Mr. W. F. Macdonald), that it interferes with their right to strike. Sir, that point has been answered already by my hon. friend from Nanaimo (Mr. Ralph Smith). There is nothing in the bill to prevent them striking, but there are conditions proposed. Every body agrees that a strike is a very great evil. If I wanted to show the evil and danger connected with strikes, I could do nothing better than recall the very eloquent speech made by the hon. member for North Toronto (Mr. Foster) a few days ago, in which he forcibly depicted that great evil, and wanted us to declare that there should be no strike under any circumstances and that the moment an award was made it should be binding.

Mr. W. F. Macdonald will the right hon. gentleman allow me to state the case of the men? He did not answer me. They claim that the right to strike is one of their privileges, and part of the right to strike is the selection of the time when they shall strike. By this legislation you take away from them the selection of the time.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier: Let us discuss the question as it is. The railway men have a right to select their time to strike; all labour men have that right, and both the men and their employers are accustomed to it. It is not a strike in this respect. The argument is not a responsible one. Here is a dispute between the employer and the employees. Instead of the men being allowed to go on strike, or the employer to have a lockout, the law says that before either is resorted to, their difference shall be submitted to a board of arbitration. The board of arbitration makes an award, and after the award is made, it is open to the men to strike if they are not satisfied, and after the award is made, it is open to the employer to have a lockout if he is not satisfied. But we say that we should interpret and reverse the right to strike as a supreme resort. There is nothing in this legislation to prevent men having a strike, which is a powerful and sometimes the only remedy they have against the possible breach of employers; but we say that before this right is allowed to have its effect, every possible means shall be taken to prevent it taking place and to have the differences adjusted. The railway men claim that they should have the right to strike in this law. I understand that every kind of labour is willing to accept it. The coal men are willing to accept it. The men employed on other kinds of public utilities are willing. The railway men only are unwilling. A denigration of railway men would be no more, and I tell you very frankly that we might as well withdraw the bill and let the men go from their operation. If there is a class of men to whom this legislation should apply, it is railway men. The railway service cannot stop; it must go on. Suppose there is a strike of railway men in the city of Ottawa tomorrow. The trains for Toronto and Montreal will have to start; but the railway men will say, "No, while the board of arbitration is sitting, we will not have a strike and prevent the train starting." This would be a very serious going out. In the event of a coal famine it might prevent coal being taken to the railroads. Does it not appear to the common sense of any one that this bill is to be passed and it should be applied to railway men in preference to any other class? If there were a strike tomorrow on a railway, and the company tried to run its train, the railway men might try and prevent them going out. We know that the company would be prevented from going out, and the men might have bloodshed and violence of the worst kind. Will any one tell

Greater Calgary Bill Before Municipal Committee

Lively Time at Meeting This Morning—Hot Debate in Legislature—Large Interests Oppose Extension

The Greater Calgarians and the Little Calgarians locked horns this morning over the bill to extend the limits of the city from its present diminutive dimensions of 1,000 acres, to the dimensions that will accommodate the population that the 100,000 club signs of.

Deputations for and against the bill appeared before the committee on municipal law, this morning in the legislative chamber at McKay avenue school. In favor of the bill there appeared Mayor Cameron, City Solicitor Hall, City Clerk Gillis, Aldermen Riley and McMillan. The protesters were represented by Messrs. F. Burns, Cross, Carson, Gibbs, Teale and Walsh.

The discussion this morning centred round the proposed extension of N.W. 14 sec. 75, east of the Elbow. Difficulty One of Terms. From the evidence today it would appear the difficulty is one of terms only. The manufacturers, like the Burns Co., Brewery Co., and the Milling Co. do not object to admission to the city on the basis of a land tax only, but they strongly oppose any taxation of buildings or plant. As the matter stands today there are two proposals. The first is to admit the subdivision at a rate of assessment not over $200, and the property at 50 per cent. of its market value. The alternative is to admit the subdivision on the basis of a land tax upon a valuation of $4,000 per acre. To this latter agreement it is objected that it is $4,000 is too high. It is said the latest sale of property in that subdivision has been only $1,500 an acre.

Riley Reads Petition. When the committee met the members for Calgary introduced the deputations and outlined the cardinal features of the bill. He submitted a petition of 35 freeholders of Rokeauville. Mr. Riley (Gleichen) read the letter of the overseer of Rokeauville protesting against annexation, and cited a clause in the Calgary charter whereby by no suburbs could be annexed without a majority vote of the freeholders. He laid a petition on the table from 22 freeholders against annexation. Mr. W. L. Walsh appeared for the residents of section 12, and asked that the interested parties be heard. Mr. Cross, of the Brewing Co., sketched the origin of the annexation movement, and stated that it began with real estate men on the outskirts backed by the newspapers. The committee rose at 1 o'clock and will sit again tomorrow at 10 a.m.

CITY COUNCIL

At the city council meeting last night, with all the members present except J. B. Walker, who is at the Coast, a long and important list of business was undertaken. A letter from John W. Morris offering a park site of several acres in R. 1, S. 22, was taken up and the council considered the proposition.

The poultry and pet stock association was granted $100 for the promotion of their exhibition on March 7th, 8th and 9th.

The report of the engineer on the information gained during his eastern tour was read and filed.

Mr. Bull's letter withdrawing all recommendations to the council was read and filed.

A petition from enterprisers in the neighborhood of the gas well, asking that the Northwest Gas & Oil Co. franchise be not received, on the grounds that the operation of the well was a nuisance, was laid on the table when the whole question should be taken up.

A petition for a six foot plank sidewalk on the east side of Third street, from Mackay avenue to the south side of lot 62 was granted.

A petition for a sidewalk on the north side of Nelson avenue from First to Reynolds was laid over as the commissioners had not had time to investigate.

A report of the commissioners recommended that all lateral water mains and sewers be laid in lanes, wherever practicable, be adopted.

Report No. 29, recommending the sale of certain lots to the Edmonton from works, was adopted. The report read as follows:

"We, the commissioners, have fully discussed this matter with the Messrs. Cornwall, and now beg to recommend the sale of the following city property to this company upon the conditions hereinafter stated: Lots 23 to 26, 21, 22, 16 and west 13 feet of 17, Block 13, R. 1, S. 14 (having a lane 20 feet in width on the east side of lot 17), price $11,750.00. Terms $10 down and balance in nine annual payments with interest at 5 per cent. per annum (assuring the return to the city of the full cost price of the property).

The conditions provide for the establishment of a fully equipped laundry and machine shop at an initial cost of $25,000 for buildings and plant within the first year, subject to an increase and development within five years from date of purchase, to an ultimate capacity with a value in buildings and plant not less than $50,000.

At the general election of all the city buildings, unless such may be required for the purpose of their business within one year.

3. The installation of sewerage water facilities within one year in all the buildings to be affected or retained upon the said property unless any such buildings are being used solely for storage purposes.

A letter was read from the clerk of the council, asking if Edmonton could furnish that town with electric light and power. The commissioners reported as follows:

As it is absolutely impossible for the city at present to meet the request of the town of St. Albert for the supply of electric light and power, your commissioners suggest as a counter proposition that we offer to sell to that town our discarded 150 H.P. generator unit at the most reasonable price and terms that can be agreed upon.

The report was adopted and the commissioners will endeavor to reach an agreement with St. Albert for the sale of the generator.

In Report No. 30 the commissioner asked the council to take up and decide on which of the streets intersecting Jasper the street railway should be constructed.

Alderman Garripy and Manson moved that the matter be referred back to the commissioners to report recommending the streets on which the railway should be built.

Alderman MacCauley said that as the council had been asked to decide on which street the railway should be built, he was willing to understand the decision at once. He moved that the street railway should be built on First street, Nanayo and Spadina.

Alderman Anderson seconded.

Alderman Garripy and Alderman Manson argued that it was not wise to jump to conclusions as to which streets the railway should be run on. They recommended that the commissioners report should be heard first, and that then if the council thought best to change the plans, they had the right to do so.

Alderman MacCauley said he was not likely to be any better acquainted with the city in a week than he was now. He was ready to decide at once.

The mayor pointed out that the reason why the council should decide was because every street, after passing first, had a different angle, requiring differently constructed rails for the curves.

The amendment was put and lost. The motion carried, leaving the matter over for a week, pending the report of the commissioners.

The commissioners reported in connection with the Brennan case, that after meeting the city solicitor they believed that the city could not consider itself under any liability for Brennan's death. The report was adopted.

The commissioners recommended that an offer of C. E. Macdonald to pay $425 for the front portion of lot 18, block 7, R. 1, S. 10, be not accepted, but that Mr. Macdonald be offered the lot at $500. The recommendation was adopted.

A motion was passed to file the report of the commissioners regarding the seat and incinerator site, which finally disposed of that question. Dr. MacCauley asked for the report of the health officer regarding the site chosen for the council for the site.

It stated, in brief, that if the incinerator was placed 200 yards from the isolation hospital and a route north of Red Creek followed in bringing the garbage to the incinerator, no harm to the patients of the hospital would result.

Alderman MacCauley contended that to mean that the health officer condemned the site, but the council did not contain this view.

At nine minutes to 11, the much delayed fire by-law was again trotted out and, it having already been read three times, Alderman Garripy and Alderman Anderson moved and seconded that the by-law be now finally adopted.

This brought Alderman Smith out with his oft-repeated argument that the fire by-law promoted the one-story brick building, while if there were no fire by-law, wooden buildings, probably of a very fair class, would be built instead, and these would in the process of events be relegated to other streets as better buildings were required.

Alderman Picard agreed with this argument, and recommended that the building by-law should be placed on the city's statutes first.

Alderman Garripy said he had made his motion merely for the purpose of getting the question before the council. He now withdrew the motion.

Alderman Smith moved that the by-law and special legislation by-law be instructed to bring in a building regulation by-law.

This motion passed and the fire by-law again went over pending the appearance of the building regulation by-law.

Alderman Picard moved that in anticipation of the annual guarantee to the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition, that the city advance a credit to the fair committee of $1,000, which it might call upon in case it was necessary. The motion passed.
